On a classical note

Surtis spent Saturday evening on a different note. Close to 400 people spent three pleasant hours at a city's popular auditorium indulging in classical music and dance. It was an annual event of a city based classical music school. What made it grand was Kathak performance by Vaswati Misra, disciple of Pandit Birju Maharaj and Daniel Freddy. The icing on the cake was Vaswati performing to Harivanshrai Bachhan's poetry. Hemant Gandhar, disciple of Padmabhushan Gulam Mustafa Khan also rendered the notes beautifully.
